The Events Choirs: Cyrilika Slavic Chamber Choir

The Events is coming up and that means it is time to showcase our choirs!

We have one choir performing twice, and that is the Cyrilika Slavic Chamber Choir who will be joining Pi at the Russian Hall on January 24th and 26th!

Cyrilika was established in 2012 as a way to find a place for music from Slavic countries to have a home in Vancouver. They long to promote the Slavic cultural heritage through the art of choral singing, with the hope of bringing communities together and promoting multiculturalism - something that Pi strongly believes in too! The choir's repertoire is pretty eclectic, with...

The Events Choirs: Woodward's Community Singers

The Events is coming up and that means it is time to showcase our choirs!

For Tuesday January 23rd, we are excited to feature Woodward's Community Singers.

Woodward's Community Singers is an open group that welcomes everyone, whether you want to sing or just come to listen. This community of singers really wants you to think about how music is a gift to us all and that you should be a part of it too! This welcoming group seeks more singers - no experience or audition required - and drop ins are welcome.

Pi's 2018 PuSh Picks!

It's that time of year again! We're gearing up for the PuSh Festival (and of course our production of The Events) and wanted to share what we're looking forward to seeing!

First up is Anais' list:

I'm Not Here - I love theatre that incorporates songs and poems into the fabric of the narrative. I'm Not Here does just that. Doireann Coady delves deep into the darkness, examining death, love and grief with lyricism and expletives.

MDSLX - I'm down for anything that's been called "an intellectual dance party." I'm also down for queer, genre-bending performance that blurs the lines between...

The Events Choirs: Vostok and Friends

The Events is coming up and that means it is time to showcase our choirs!

Our next choir is one that has grown just for The Events, and that's Vostok and Friends!

Normally a trio of incredible singers performing music from Eastern Europe and the Balkans, Vostok has added a few people to their group so that they could be a part of this production. Vostok means The East, and they represent Eastern European music in East Van! Vostok's songs take the listener from bliss to despair and back again.

Take a listen to some of their work by clicking here, and check them out at The Events on January...

The Events Choirs: St. Paul's Church Choir

The Events is coming up and that means it is time to showcase our choirs!

Next up, for our first Saturday night performance on January 20, 2018 is the St. Paul's Church Choir.

At St. Paul's, they see music as a way to glorify God, and edifies people through worship and music during our regular and special church services. Under the guidance of musical director Michael Molnar, the choir is always looking for passionate people who want to use their gifts during services.

We're thrilled to have them performing with us in The Events.

The Events Choirs: Vancouver City Singers

The Events is coming up and that means it is time to showcase our choirs!

First up, for our first matinee performance on January 20, 2018 is the Vancouver City Singers.

Vancouver City Singers was established 60 years ago and has been a staple in the Vancouver community choir scene ever since! What was once a group of singers at Christmas time has grown into a choir with robust taste. Currently under the direction of Holly Denney, the choir sings a variety of genres from jazz, folk, gospel and well beyond.

If you've thought about joining a choir, Vancouver City Singers is always on the lookout...
