

Battery

An Equity Co-op presented by Pink Ink / Vancouver Little Theatre

Playwright: Daniel Thériault

Director: Stephanie Kirkland

Battery tells the story of Rip, owner of Rip's Electric Shop, his girlfriend Brandy, and his dim-witted shop assistant, Stan. Such is Rip's faith in the wonders of electronics that he subjects Stan to home-made shock treatments, all in the name of love. Using the motif and metaphor of electricity, Thériault conducts us into a fantastic world that illuminates the limitations and dangers of a mechanistic view of life.
